Mr. James Page

Dear Jim:

Received a message that you very thoughtfully and generously offered to have a luncheon for me any day in December. I'm afraid this will have to be postponed much to my disappointment, as it now appears that I will not be out in December. However I'd like a rain check for I will be coming out in the near future and nothing would give me greater happiness than the luncheon you propose.

I am gradually becoming indoctrinated in my new responsibilities. They are awesome, to say the least!

Rosemary and I will be out over Thanksgiving. It now seems necessary that I pick up a few more shirts and other necessary articles of apparel prior to settling down in Washington. I will call you during the weekend.

Rosemary joins me in our love to you both,

John A. McCone
